2009 Leadership Retreat
November 6-8, 2009
Quaker Hill Camp, McCall, ID

Reality noun

[ree-al-i-tee]

The state of things as they actually exist

The reality is that your influence matters, and you have more potential to make a positive difference on your school campus, and in the lives of others, than you may realize. It's time to have a Reality Check, and realize your leadership potential!

Come join like-minded teenagers from across the state in a dynamic leadership experience. At this year's leadership retreat you will learn to maximize your influence and create a plan to unleash your impact on your campus. You will have the opportunity to work with your team to strengthen and amplify that influence. You will return home ready to make a lasting impact on the lives of others with:

- A vision and plan to positively impact your campus and peers
- Training in developing your own tobacco prevention presentation
- Confident communication skills
- New ideas for growing your IDFY chapter
- A clear understanding of the kind of influence you want to have in your school
- A chapter development guide to better organize your IDFY chapter including: event and activity planning materials, chapter meeting ideas/outlines, options for creating your leadership panel and fundraising plans

Registration: $125 per person must be included with registration form to reserve your spot.

Includes: Lodging, Training Materials, Food, Activities and fun!

Transportation: Charter buses will be provided. $25 per person must be included for bus service.

Space: Space is limited. You can hold spots for your group by calling us with a PO #. You must register by October 23, 2009.
